RAYTHEON - TOWN MEETING TODAY

An important meeting of Raytheon Co. management and town officials is scheduled for this noon at the Lanam Club. The Company has refrained from releasing any details of the meeting, except to say that the discussion is important to Andover.

However, rumors have been circulated in the past few weeks that the Company will soon negotiate an agreement to purchase the former Shawshen Mills, which has been leased since Raytheon came here.

Spokesmen for the firm would not confirm or deny this rumor late Wednesday.

Bloodmobile Here 2 Days In April

Preparations for the semi-annual Red Cross bloodmobile, which will be at the South Church on the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, April 11 and Wednesday, April 12, have turned one room of the chapter house into a telephone exchange.

The Andover Junior Chamber of Commerce is, as a public service, calling possible donors from the headquarters every evening this week, under the direction of Richard Barney, their president, James Stamas, and Edward F. Murphy of the Red Cross Blood Committee. Three mornings are being covered by members of Beta Sigma Phi: Mrs. Ralph Wirtz, Mrs. A. P. Seikunas, Mrs. Robert Kitson, Mrs. Thomas Marjerson Jr., Mrs. Weston Eastman, Mrs. Ian Sanderson and Mrs. John S. Gillies. Volunteers on the telephones at other times during this week include Mrs. Charles Gaunt, Mrs. (Continued on Page Nine)

Plans Set For Summer School

The second annual summer school will start July 5 at the High School, for a six-week period.

Two-hour classes will be held in the mornings, starting at 8, with the second class beginning at 10:15 after a 15-minute break.

Director Philip Wormwood has proposed that two courses for pupils in grades five and six be added, after obtaining the results of a questionnaire sent to their parents.

The additions will be remedial reading and remedial arithmetic. The same basic courses as last year are again being offered, and a course in creative writing will be given for secondary school students.

Pupils may take one or two courses. Any of the proposed subjects may be withdrawn, if there is insufficient enrollment.

Reorganizing Country Club

The future of the Indian Ridge Country Club may be decided in about one week, after all members of the Club have an opportunity to vote on a plan reorganization.

About 200 of the 325 members met at the Yankee Doodle Monday night, and voted overwhelmingly to endorse the new plan, and to sign personal releases in connection with it.

However, Daniel E. Hogan, who heads an investment group willing to put $150,000 into the Club, indicated that "nearly unanimous" approval must be obtained or his group will not make the money available. Thus the fate of the Club may actually rest with the members who were not present, but who will have a chance to vote during the next few days. There were approximately 12 negative votes at the meeting Monday.

The reorganization plan, in simple terms, proposes that the swimming pools, cabana-type buildings, tennis courts and the access roads be completed this summer. Remaining construction - the golf course itself, the clubhouse and other accessories to a country club - will only be constructed when the money becomes available.

Members on the club roster as of the meeting Monday will enjoy whatever rights and privileges were granted them by the original developers for a five-year period. After that time, assessment of (Continued on Page Two) the public.

Memberships, under the new by-laws, are not transferrable, and may be, at some time, transferred only to the club, at no more than the original price of membership.

Members present obviously believed they have everything to lose by refusing and, possibly something to gain, by approving the new plan.

Atty. Richard Simmers, president of the members' corporation, explained that the original promoters and the corporation have signed mutual releases. He told the group that there are no appreciable assets, and there is no likelihood of obtaining results from court action.

Members heard a gloomy story of the original promotion. They were told that 325 memberships of various classes were sold; that $245,000 was collected and has been spent in various ways.

Commented Mr. Hogan: "It's taken six lawyers and a public accountant to unravel the records." And then he explained that there is no accounting for some of the funds that were transferred between corporations or paid out to individuals connected with them.

Whether the latter were for expenses of the Club or not can not be determined, he stated.

Mr. Hogan pointed out that the developers' clubs in various areas are all having the same problems, and read from a news clipping from a Washington, D.C. newspaper, concerning District Court suits in that city, seeking to determine the nature of expenditures made in the process of raising over $900,000 for a country club there.

He said problems exist with the internal revenue office, based on payment of taxes due on the memberships, but he hopes these can be straightened out. The Securities Exchange Commission also has been involved in the operation, and questions raised by that federal agency also are being studied and may be answered satisfactorily.

Mr. Hogan promised the members that his group will not invest in the Club here unless these two problems are solved; and he stated that the lawyers would have to indicate that there would be no liability, before the group will go forward. In the same vein, he said there should be no liability for members or for the new corporation.

He stated that the investment group feels that a country club is needed here, and is putting the money into the corporation in an attempt to salvage the situation - not as a money-making venture.

During the discussion, several members stressed their belief that, having invested in the Club as members, they can do nothing else but approve the reorganization, or lose their money.

The loudest laugh of the evening came when Mr. Simmers mentioned the number of members "they took in" - then added that he was referring only to the number of persons to whom memberships were sold.

Under the proposal outlined to the members, both Mr. Simmers and Mr. Hogan explained that future dues and requirements will approximate those charged at any country club. They noted that the original proposals appeared to have offered more, for the money, than can reasonably be expected.

In discussing the future construction costs, Mr. Simmers said the $150,000 will pay for completion of the pools, the buildings necessary to them, tennis courts and the access roads.

An 18-hole course will cost about $165,000 but possibly $15,000 of this amount has already been spent in roughing out the fairways. The clubhouse cost might run up as high as $500,000; and land costs will approximate another $295,000.

Of the latter amount, Mr. Simmers said it is possible to sell house lots along the perimeter of the club, and that this was being in revenue estimated at $200,000. The land is, in most part, on option, with lease-purchase arrangements over a period of time. It was estimated that the golf course and clubhouse can be finished only as quickly as additional money is available, and that construction will be done in stages to match the available funds.

In addition to Mr. Simmers, Judge Richard Gordon, treasurer, was present but took no part in the discussion.

Not everything at the CO-OP requires handling which could be called TENDER. Groceries do not all need treatment which could be referred to as LOVING. Not always do our foods have to have great CARE.

But fresh fruits and vegetables demand all three of these qualities. A prime requirement of a good produce man is that he love the succulent perishables which he displays for the buying public.

Have you seen our produce department lately? It is attractive. It is colorful. Every attempt is made to buy only the best produce available. Fresh fruits and vegetables are delivered to us daily.

At this time of year, when some produce comes from thousands of miles away, it is not always possible to buy perishables in prime condition. We can't perform miracles, but you can depend on the CO-OP to give to the best available produce all the Tender Loving Care which only those who love fresh fruits and vegetables know how to administer.

South Church worshippers, as they enter the sanctuary on a Sabbath morning, pass within a few feet of a dignified bronze plaque. Many have never noticed it.

It commemorates the brief ministry of the Rev. Lorenzo Langstroth, who as the plaque tells us, was born in 1810, was pastor of South Church from May 1836 to March 30, 1839, and died in 1895. So far, nothing is unusual. However, in its preparation for celebrating the 250th anniversary of the founding of South Church, the third week in October, the anniversary committee deemed the rest of the story of this plaque to be of sufficient interest to warrant a special place in the historical exhibit which will be one of the features of the celebration.

While Mr. Langstroth served his ministry at South Church, which he entered upon as a young man, he lived at the Deacon Amos Langford House on Main st., now the home of the Andover Historical Society. He was interested in bees and in beekeeping. Everyone knows that bees make combs of wax and fill them with honey to feed their young as they hatch. The wax is secreted within the bodies of the bees and the honey is gathered from flowers. Mr. Langstroth, of course, knew this. He also knew that bees are compulsive housekeepers and that if too much or too little space is left between parts of the hive or between the comb and the hive, the bees plug it with a brown, sticky substance called propolis, which they collect from the buds of plants. This cementing of the honeycomb to its surroundings made the harvesting of the honey a difficult and a messy job. First, the bees had to be killed, saving a few to winter over and start a new hive the following spring. Then the hive had to be taken apart in order to get the honey. The only practical solution was to make the hive of straw so that it was not too difficult to dismantle.

Fifteen years later, Mr. Langstroth had left Andover and was living in Philadelphia. His interest in bees increased over the years. Then in 1851 he made the simple, yet startlingly dramatic and revolutionary discovery, that bees will not close up spaces which are just the right size for them to use as corridors to crawl through. This discovery solved the problem. The Langstroth Hive was designed on a rectangular plan. All spaces between comb frames and between frame and hive wall were kept to about 3/8 of an inch. The bees were happy. They had perfect corridors. They no longer had to devote engineering time to closing up wrong sized apertures. They made more combs and honey. The beekeepers were happy. They could remove a frame filled with comb and honey at any time and replace it with an empty frame without disturbing the bees or the rest of the hive.

The rest of the inscription on the dignified bronze plaque notes that it was presented by the Massachusetts Federation of Beekeepers Association and dedicated July 22, 1951 on the 100th anniversary of Mr. Langstroth's discovery of the bee space and his invention of the moveable frame.

Heinrich Rohrbach also is interested in bees. It is he who is preparing the exhibit for the 250th anniversary celebration. And as he says, "It seems important that we never should forget Mr. Langstroth, not alone as a minister, but as a benefactor to all mankind".

Refused Permit to Convert House

The request of the Bernardin Insurance Agency to use a house at 186 North Main st. for a business office has been denied by the Board of Appeals.

While commenting that the proposal makes sense, the Board decided that the law will not allow approval because hardship was not shown by the petitioner or the owner of the property.

Eugene A. Bernardin Jr. had sought the Board's approval to use the house, which abuts industrial-zoned land.

However, the Board held that Bernardin had not shown that hardship would exist as far as operation of his office is concerned, and had the owner shown that he had any trouble renting the property in the single residence district. The location is at the corner of Stevens st.

The decision stated: "The Board as a practical matter, of the opinion that use of the building as an office building would be a desirable one" and noted that it would "in no way be detrimental to the neighborhood". However, the decision stated that the petition did not meet the requirements of the statutes, and suggested that the meeting act on re-zoning the area.

There were no objections to the proposal when the hearing was held on 5.

BLOODMOBILE HERE TODAY IN APRIL

Bernard Krauss, Mrs. Frederick Krauss, Mrs. Joseph Senuta, Mrs. Lindsay March, Mrs. Arthur March, Mrs. John Word and Mrs. Michael Eosefow. The Shawsheen Heights Club has offered to sign donors in their neighborhood.

The chairman of the residential recruitment drive, Mrs. James Hamilton and Mrs. George Brightman, say that this concentrated effort from the chapter house is being tried for the first time in an effort to reduce the number of volunteers and the paperwork involved in each bloodmobile visit, and so that technical questions from prospective donors can be immediately answered.

Donors in the public school system are being recruited in the customary way by Miss Ruth Westcott; in Phillips Academy by John Richards; and in industries by Albert Wade.

MALE BARTON ELECTED AT SMITH

Miss Gale Barton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Barton, 24 Lowell st., has been named head of the House of Representatives of the Athletic Association at Smith College. Miss Barton, member of the sophomore class, is on the Dean's List. She is an alumna of Abbot Academy in Andover.

EASTER CANDY HUNT SCHEDULE

The Easter Candy Hunt, annually sponsored by the Andover Recreation Committee, will be held in the Park Easter Saturday, April 1.

If the grounds are too wet or inclement weather prevails, the committee will decide at noon whether or not to postpone the hunt. If it is postponed, the fire alarm will sound the School Signal 3-3-3 at noon. If postponement is due to wet grounds or bad weather, the hunt will be held Easter Sunday afternoon, April 2. If the hunt is again postponed, the fire alarm will sound 3-3-3 again Sunday noon and the hunt will be postponed until Saturday, April 8.

School Menu

The public school menu for next week follows.

Monday - corned beef hash - ketchup, buttered spinach, cheese cubes, whole wheat bread and butter, applesauce and milk.

Tuesday - fruit juice, submarine sandwich - lettuce-sliced tomato meat-cheese, potato chips, date bars and milk.

Wednesday - American chop suey, buttered green beans, Italian bread and butter, butterscotch pudding with topping and milk.

Thursday - pot roast of beef brown gravy, whipped potato, parried buttered carrots, Vienna bread and butter, pink grapefruit sections and milk.

Friday - tuna salad roll, cup of stewed tomatoes, potato sticks, white cake with chocolate frosting and milk.

EASTER SEAL CAMPAIGN AT $3,014

The first report on the Easter Seal appeal for crippled children and adults shows that the Andover-Lawrence area has contributed $3,014. Alfred H. Smith, treasurer of the Lawrence Savings Bank and campaign area treasurer, has announced. The local goal is $4,225.

Christian A. Herter, Jr., of Boston, general campaign chairman, at the same time, said the first statewide report on the 1961 appeal totaled $135,519.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Change Isn't The Answer

The argument about representative town meeting continues, even though a study committee proposal was defeated at town meeting.

This is not a new discussion by any means — at least 25 years ago there was considerable interest in the subject, and spokesmen from various communities having this form of town meeting were invited to address groups in the community.

Somehow, despite the statements of proponents of that day, we have managed to muddle through without adopting the representative form.

It is not always a blind resistance to change that dictates a man's actions when considering these ideas. Sometimes change simply isn't the answer.

We don't believe that voter apathy — which has been demonstrated in our community — would be lessened by adopting a representative town meeting plan. It is, however, likely to be responsible for the consolidation of various pressure groups into one major group known as "town meeting". The voters who are apathetic enough not to attend town meeting probably will pay little attention to the abilities and backgrounds of those whose names will appear on the ballot under such a plan.

Many others, whose sincere interest takes them to town meeting each year, probably would not be successful if required to seek ballot endorsement.

For if the usual political popularity contest comes into being, many of these able men and women, who are perhaps not widely enough known, will fail of election.

Thus would the way be cleared for candidates with the backing of some pressure group, who could go to the polls with the clear purpose of electing those favoring a special point of view. And it should be made clear to all concerned that there are more pressure groups than the town employees Association, which is the favorite whipping boy when discussing this subject.

It appears reasonable to us that town meeting remain as it now is — unlimited. All the voters are free to make their decision. They have the freedom to stay away, or to attend and vote. Although pressure groups may, from time to time, control the meeting when most voters remain away, there is always present an opportunity for the voters to attend and thus regain control of their own meeting. Under the representative form, once a pressure group or groups become dominant in town meeting, it becomes far more difficult for the voters to regain control.

Congratulations

The High School gymnastic team is to be congratulated for its second-place in the state championships, held last Saturday in Wilbraham.

The local team, under coach Joe Dorsey, has compiled a good season record; and two of the members brought state titles back to Andover.

Gymnastics is a sport that has not gained much popular attention — many people don't understand the sport nor the basis on which it is judged, and the events are held afternoons when it is difficult to attend.

Thus it is even more to the credit of the local team that they placed second in state-wide competition, without the impetus often given by enthusiastic crowds and participation in a popular spectator sport.

Who Can Use The Schools

How much right, by being taxpayers, do adults have to the facilities available in public school buildings?

This seems to be the fundamental question involved in a contest of requests and diversions between the Andover Recreation Council and the School Committee.

The Council has asked to use the High School for its Thursday evening classes, citing better facilities, more adequate lighting, and, obviously, more pleasant surroundings than prevail in the Junior High building.

The superintendent and School Committee have refused the request so far, maintaining that as long as the Junior High can hold the number of people attending, the High School should not be opened to them. Cost factors enter into this decision, as does the long-haul approach that extra use means greater maintenance in years to come.

At least three requests have been made for the use of the building, and twice the matter was given a negative decision. The third request resulted in postponement of a decision to find out how well the attendance holds up in the current session.

It seems to us that a basic decision needs to be made, as to whether adults have a right to use whichever of the school facilities they believe to be best suited to their purposes, or whether the use of a school building is a privilege to be granted by the School Committee. Once this question is answered, decisions resulting from requests such as has been made by the Council, would be easy.

SUSIE'S SONNETS

It would seem logical to divorce the decision on the Council's request from the basic question.

We sense a feeling of stubbornness on the part of all parties to the immediate request for use of the High School — the Council feeling that there is no logical reason they should not use the building; the superintendent and School Committee possibly believing the Council, by repeated requests, has pushed too hard, too often after being refused.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — March, 1911

Mr. Walker of Washington ave. was the engineer on the night express from New York to Portland, Me., which was wrecked near Clinton early Wednesday morning.

The Andover Dramatic Club will give its first performance in the latter part of May.

William B. Cheever was confined to his home part of this week by illness.

Andover is to have a new and up-to-date dry goods store. The largest of the new stores in the Barnard Block will be used for the purpose, and will be conducted by F. G. MacDonald.

The annual Barnard Prize Speaking Contest will be held tonight. The speakers are Eva Eaton, Herbert Carter, Helen Swanton, George Richardson, Maud Spaulding, Lester Towne, Lucretia Lowe and Helena Riley.

25 Years Ago — March, 1936

With the waters of the Shawshen river receding, the town spent the past week cleaning up from the worst flood in the town's history. Water backed up from the Merrimack River, and was bottled up by the dam at the Marland Mills, thus flooding Shawshen and the Marland area. The traffic beacon in Shawshen Square was barely visible above the water at one time, and about 109 houses were evacuated.

National Guard troops from Salem and Lynn guarded the community last weekend, after all electric power failed. The only lights in the Square came from floodlights borrowed from Melrose, which also sent a small generator.

Traffic trying to get in and out of Lawrence was routed into West Andover, via Beacon st., at the height of the flood. Only boats could use Route 28 in the Village.

The Selectmen, town clerk and Board of Health moved to the Aberdeen building last weekend, to be near the flood scene and offer as much help as possible. Boys from the CCC camps were in the area helping clean up the debris. Every home that was evacuated had to be inspected by the Board of Health before the families could return, and by today, 70 were occupied.

A diver in full gear, minus head piece, narrowly escaped drowning in Shawshen during the flood. He was seated on a makeshift raft, about to dive to shut off a water main, when the craft tipped. It was difficult to get him above water with the weighted suit. Several BPW members and employees were dumped into the water at the same time.

10 Years Ago — March, 1951

The construction of two new elementary schools will start in April. The Building Committee has approved a contract for the two buildings, for which $1,200,000 was appropriated at town meeting.

The new public school sailing clubs will begin a racing schedule in Wakefield April 4. There are entries from Punchard and from the elementary schools.

A drive for funds to support the Visiting Nurse Association will be held during April. The group seeks $6,000 to support this agency, which had been run by the Red Cross until last year.

It only took 1 1/2 minutes Saturday for boys and girls to find and pick up 13,000 pieces of candy scattered around the Playstead. The annual Easter candy hunt was a big success.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman: "An editorial in the Townsman of March 23, 1961, states that the residents of Abbot st. objected to the operation of the Foster gravel pit at the hearing held the previous Monday. This was not the case. The residents of Abbot st. that attended the hearing were there to speak in favor of the continued operation of the pit although only three spoke. Two letters were read from residents who were unable to attend and both were for the continued operation of the pit. The trucks do not use Abbot st. and the noise from the operation itself is heard very little by most of the residents on Abbot st. In fact, I was one of the residents that spoke in favor of the Foster operation and I stated that although trucks from another gravel pit were occasionally objectionable, we felt this had to be overlooked in order to live in harmony with our neighbors."

Egg Tree Contest

Each year in the spring, the Children's room of the Memorial Hall Library observes a quiet and interesting custom, that of decorating eggs and hanging them on a tree in the weeks before Easter.

The first group to begin this is the Littlest Listeners, this year the Robins group. Twenty-seven little people in the pre-school age group listened to the delightful story "The Egg Tree", written by Kathryn Milhous. In this story the children follow out an old custom and trim a tree with eggs blown out, colored and decorated. After the story, the children dipped eggs in dye and began the tree decorating.

From then on, all who are interested are invited to join; there are grade groupings for judging the winners in each class. Families are invited to make a string, star circle or group of related characters and to enter the group for what is called "Class 3" of the contest.

Full details have been printed for anyone wishing to try his hand and may be picked up at either the main library or at the branch room in Ballardvale.

Saturday afternoon, April 1, at 5 o'clock, all entries must be in.

Monday afternoon, April 3, at 3:35 o'clock, the Egg Tree Day program will be held. There will be stories, a puppet play, and the awarding of prizes to the winners.

Library Closed

The library will be closed Good Friday, March 31, from 12-3 o'clock.

Poster Series

Enlargements of an unusual series of reprints from well-known magazines may be seen in the exhibit case in the vestibule of the Memorial Hall Library. This series describes the many rewards of good reading enjoyed by leaders in many fields—medicine, education, business and the arts—all with a single theme: "Men who read achieve more." Librarians have been impressed with the effectiveness of these posters in promoting the feeling of the importance of reading to persons in all walks of life.

The question "How many magazines, books, newspapers, have you read in the past week?" was asked of 100 company officers; their total answers were 338 magazines, 63 books and 1,490 newspapers. When another group of men whose salaries were below $7,500 a year answered the same question the response showed 229 magazines and 28 books. The figures show that men who achieve more are men of reading habits; some read waiting for planes, trains, meals, haircuts.... But the main thing is they read.

New Books

Many of the books displayed during the week of Open House are now in circulation, filling the heavy list of reserves made by Andover readers who wait each year for the week of new book displays.

Of interest to the staff is the quality and variety of the books selected by those who enjoyed an hour or two in browsing. Fiction, travel, business methods, mathematics in all its forms, wild life, essays, foreign affairs, health, homemaking, poetry—all came in for their share of attention. Many of the musical recordings displayed during the week have been reserved and are already giving pleasure to music-lovers in their own homes.

The March New Book Sampler contains the listing of many books which were shown during the week. Those who were unable to visit their library may wish to pick up a copy.

TOO MANY POLICIES...

You show good judgment in buying insurance to protect you from financial loss. But you may have too many policies. They may overlap, may leave you unprotected in some places. You have more complete protection at minimum cost when you let us combine your coverage in modern "package" policies. May we show you how?

Meeting Approved Salary Committee

A committee will be appointed to study the salary and expense items for elected and appointed town officials, following a vote of town meeting March 22.

George Westhaver asked that the committee be appointed by the moderator, pointing out that these officials are working without pay, and suggesting that they should at least have expense allowances for out-of-town business.

It's become known, since the elected and appointed officials relinquished their salaries, that all of them were not happy with the arrangement, but felt that they could do no less than conform, although this was not discussed at the meeting.

The adjourned town meeting, with 452 voters checking in, adopted a resolution supporting a constitutional convention, proposed by Arthur Neumark. A copy of the resolution will be sent to other towns, under the article which was adopted.

In other action, the meeting accepted the following streets: Wild Rose dr., Hickory ln., Holly ter., Pearson st., Cutler rd. and Smithshire Estates. Withdrawn, because of the requirement that additional work be done, were Lakeside cir., Sherry dr., Suncrest rd., Thresher rd., Birch rd. and West Parish dr.

An article to create a shopping center zone in Shawsheen was withdrawn. In other action, the voters accepted land from Fred E. Cheever off Route 93, and a parcel from George D. Knightly on Birch rd. The amount of $575 was appropriated for the Civil War Centennial Commission, and the study committee on the effect of new housing was continued for a year, to complete a study on other areas of the town, as suggested in its report.

The town was also asked to consider changing the name of Lowell Junction, because of the confusion that exists. George Westhaver suggested the step, pointing out that visitors are confused, and that Lowell police have to check to find out where the place is when people go to Lowell seeking the Junction.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Slate of Greenwich, N. Y., spent the past week with their many friends in town.

Building or Buying A New Home . . . ?

Here is a golden opportunity to pick up some helpful information on designing the interior.

The Y.W.C.A. has asked us to give a course on interior decorating at the Youth Center here in Andover. The course will be given by our Mr. Francis J. Niziak, Jr., who has designed interiors for many of Andover's finest homes.

This course will not make you a professional, but it will teach you the way to plan your home, and the pitfalls that so many encounter before moving into a new home or apartment.

New brides or prospective brides will find that some of the information given at these lectures will also save hundreds of dollars when the purchase of furniture, drapes and floor coverings is made.

Don't miss this opportunity... see you at the Youth Center.

DAR Presented Flags To Scouts

Priscilla Abbot Chapter, N.S.- D.A.R., has been active recently in presenting flags to both Boy and Girl Scouts in the town.

The regent of the chapter, Mrs.
Edwin Otto, accompanied by Mrs.
Edwin Lewis, Flag chairman, presented an American Flag to Girl Scout Troop 32 of West Andover at the Mother-Daughter banquet held in the Phillips Academy Gymnasium, the occasion being the 49th birthday anniversary of the Girl Scouts.

In presenting the Flag, Mrs. Otto remarked: "It is indeed an honor for me to be here tonight to take part in the observance of your 49th birthday. As a former Girl Scout and Troop leader myself, I am familiar with the precepts of good citizenship which scouting teaches.
It is brought home again that to every citizen of the United States, the Flag is the symbol of the nation's power; signifying government resting on the consent of the governed, and to the world it is the emblem of liberty."

"On behalf of Priscilla Abbot Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, I present the Flag to Girl Scout Troop 32. I understand this Troop generously left its original flag at West school for use of other troops in that locality, when it transferred to Stowe school. This particular flag, in addition to the proud heritage it represents, has recently been flown over our Nation's Capitol, and a certification to that effect is in the envelope which I am now turning over to Miss Karen Hanson of Troop 32."

Miss Hanson accepted the Flag as follows: "The members and leaders of Girl Scout Troop 32 are very proud and happy to receive this beautiful American Flag.

We wish to thank the Daughters of the American Revolution for so honoring our Troop and our hope to carry our new Flag through many more years of scouting."

After a delightful catered supper, the program was highlighted by stunts and songs by each Troop, led by their various leaders.
Boy Scout Troop 77 of West
Andover also received an American Flag from the Chapter, which was represented by the Vice Regent, Mrs. Edward Thompson, at the Scouts' regular meeting March 22.
This Flag also has been flown over the Capitol. The leader of the Troop is Robert Hooson, 7 Bow-doin rd.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dailer months in St. Petersburg, Fla.

To Hear Doctor At Public Lecture

"A Visit with Dr. Albert Schweitzer" will be the lecture given by Dr. Robert Goldwyn of Brookline April 28, at 8:15 at Memorial Auditorium, sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

Dr. Goldwyn has recently returned from Africa, where he was acting staff surgeon for Dr. Schweitzer's hospital in Lambarene. Dr. Goldwyn will show slides taken during his tour of duty in Lambarene and speak on his impressions of that portion of Africa and the impact of Dr. Schweitzer's work.

Dr. Goldwyn is speaking to interested groups since his return and donating his fee to Dr. Schweitzer and his medical mission. Money is of course always needed in work of this sort, but almost equally important, Dr. Goldwyn feels, is more understanding between peoples.

Tickets at a minimum charge may be obtained from any member of the League of Women Voters. Mrs. Charles St. Clair and Mrs. Jack Kyger may be contacted for information.

Course Offered In Interior Decorating

A series of lectures on interior decorating will start today at the Andover Youth Center, sponsored by the Y.W.C.A.

The 10:45 a.m. sessions will be under the direction of Francis J. Niziak Jr., who has designed interiors for many prominent homes in Andover and who is actively engaged in the profession through the Studio Shoppe of Lawrence, a firm he founded in 1950.

The first session will concern the basic principles of interior decorating; the following three lectures will specialize in provincial, contemporary and early American interiors. Registration for the course may be made at the Youth Center or at the Y.W.C.A. in Lawrence.

Next Bridge Session Will Be April 6

The duplicate bridge session, along with most other activities sponsored by the Andover Recreation Council, will not be held this week due to the school being closed for Holy Thursday.

The next duplicate session will be held at 7:45 p.m. in the music room of the Junior High school April 6. Last week's winners, with 16 tables in play, were, north-south, first, Mrs. Harold Gordon and Mrs. William Funk; second, Mrs. Valdemar Johnson and Mrs. Joseph Fleischli; third, Mrs. William Pratt and Mrs. Edgar Joiner; east-west, first, Mrs. Vincent Stulgis and Mrs. John Kenney; second, Mrs. Alice Damon and L. J. Douglass; third Mrs. Harold DeBolt and Mrs. Isador Gross.
